The SWCS in March

The month of March brought another chapter in the continuing epic of SWCS meetings. Again the SWCS offered a quality presentation, an auction, a spread of refreshments and a host of dealer tables. This month it was a buyer's market as dealer tables flanked both sides of the room.

Although he brought no material to sell, Mike Hollingshead also took a table. He explained that he was 'making friends, not money'.

Bereavement in the Numismatic Community.

The months of January and February have brought great losses to the numismatic community as several distinguished numismatists passed away. The SWCS remembers Sheldon Carol, Larry Becker, Ken Lowe and George Oblinski.

Coming Soon: Low Mintage SWCS Medals

Though we have not heard much of late, the SWCS medal is very much alive. Bob Zmija took the floor to update the group on the most recent developments. After some number crunching, it was determined that the mintage of the SWCS medals would be limited to 35 sets. This would be comprised of 35 silver medals, 35 gold plate medals and 35 bronze medals. The silver medals would be offered at $40, the gold plate at $15 and the bronze at $10. At these prices the sales will cover the cost of the dies along with a nominal profit (approx. $100). In addition, the medals will be issued with certificates of authenticity. Prior to tonight, Bob has already sold 16 sets with 7 of those sold to individuals outside of the club. Amongst our ranks the announcement of the limited mintage sparked even more interest in the medals and several members placed their orders before the night was out. To get your set talk to Bob soon...before it's too late.

March's Feature Presentation: Home Security

This month, the SWCS welcomed Zenon Sikora of White Eagle Security Systems. Zenon introduced some of the home security technology on today's market. The hardware ranged from the basic door contacts up to mercury switches and
